The First-Time Manager - Workbook

Practitioner course | Trainer: Daniel Okafor

About this workbook

The conversations, habits and boundaries that make the first year of managing work.

Use this workbook alongside the course player. Print it or fill it in on screen.

What you will be able to do

- Run one-to-ones people find useful

- Delegate without disappearing

- Give feedback that changes behaviour

From doing the work to leading it

The shift from individual contributor to manager is mostly about where you spend your attention. We look at what to let go of first.

Reflection: Rate your confidence from 1 to 10 now, and again in two weeks.

One-to-ones that matter

A simple structure for weekly one-to-ones that puts the other person first and surfaces problems early.

Reflection: Write three sentences about a recent moment this applied to you.

Delegation without disappearing

Match the level of support to the person and the task, and agree check-ins before you hand anything over.

Reflection: What will you try differently this week? Who will notice?

Feedback that lands

Describe the behaviour, its impact and what you would like instead. Then stop talking and listen.

Reflection: Rate your confidence from 1 to 10 now, and again in two weeks.